When a man says "Vajra," he isn't naming a cologne. He is claiming an identity.

Enter Through the Barber's Chair, Not the Shopping Cart.

PHASE 01 — EXPERIENCE

0 – 6 Months

B2B2C Seeding Strategy

Why this matters

Most men won't walk cold into a brand they associate with women. But put the fragrance in a barber's chair or a hotel spa — somewhere he already feels good about himself — and the barrier disappears. We don't push the brand. We let him find it.

Where we start

Truefitt & Hill, Enrich Salons premium tier, Taj and Oberoi hotel spas across Delhi NCR, Mumbai, and Bangalore. These are spaces where grooming reads as discipline, not vanity — exactly the frame we need.

How it works

A complimentary VAJRA sample, applied during service. No pitch, no counter, no social awkwardness. The discovery is almost accidental — which is how luxury actually earns trust.

Budget & target

₹3–4 Cr total allocation via revenue-share or seeding arrangements.
Goal: 50,000 genuine samples delivered across three metros in the first six months.

PHASE 02 — CONVERSION

6 – 18 Months

Discovery Kit + Union Box

Discovery Kit

₹699–₹899. All three Sanskrit fragrances as 5ml vials, with a card explaining the name, mythology, and Indian raw material behind each one. The box should feel like a small inheritance, not a product sample.

Union Box

VELOUR's existing feminine bestseller paired with VAJRA from VELOUR HOMME — designed for weddings, anniversaries, and Diwali gifting. The woman buys it; the man receives it. His first encounter with the brand carries zero social risk because it came through someone he trusts.
Channels

60% through Nykaa Man and Myntra Premium — both already have strong trust with male grooming buyers, and fragrance now drives 27% of online sales in the category (Technavio 2024). The remaining 40% through our own D2C site, which keeps margins and customer data in-house.
Influencer approach

Not a Bollywood face. We want the kind of person who is known for being good at something — a cricketer people respect for longevity, a chef, an architect. Someone whose association signals craft rather than celebrity.

PHASE 03 — SCALE

18 – 36 Months

Retail + Scent-Bar Flagship

Offline retail

Shoppers Stop Arcelia and Sephora for premium multi-brand presence, plus airport duty-free at Delhi T3 and Mumbai T2. Airport retail in particular reaches the aspirational male traveller at the moment he is most receptive — unhurried, status-conscious, and already spending.
Scent-Bar model

A dedicated corner in our flagship store where buyers can refill their Sanskrit-named bottle at 20% below the cost of buying new. The bottle is designed to last — engraveable, never disposable. The refill is the reason to come back.

Why this builds loyalty

Loyalty in luxury fragrance doesn't come from points programmes. It comes from ritual. The refill visit becomes a habit. The habit becomes part of how someone identifies himself. That is harder to compete with than any discount.

Expansion timeline

Year 3: airport duty-free rollout and two flagship stores in metro cities.
Year 4: pop-up gifting activations in Jaipur, Hyderabad, and Pune, timed to wedding and festival seasons.

Speak to the Man He Is Becoming, Not the Man He Was Told to Be.

ACQUIRE

Experience-Led Entry

No cold counters

The first time a man encounters VELOUR HOMME should never be at a fragrance counter. The social cost is too high. So we build every acquisition channel around removing that friction — grooming spaces, gifting occasions, hotel stays.

How the Union Box works

His partner or sister buys the Union Box for a wedding or anniversary. He opens it, smells it, and connects it to that moment. The brand travels through a relationship he already trusts — far more powerful than any ad.

Sampling sequence

At partner grooming locations, a maximum of two fragrances per visit. Coffee beans between each to reset the palate. We always lead with OJAS — fresh and approachable — then follow with VAJRA.

Who we're talking to

Urban professionals, 26–40 years, Tier-1 cities, income ₹1.5 Lakh+/month. Currently using Fogg or SKINN but know they've outgrown it. Aspirational, but needs something that feels culturally like theirs.

CONVERT

Discovery Kit Engine

What's in the kit

₹699–₹899. Five-ml vials of all three Sanskrit fragrances, plus a printed card explaining the name, mythology, and Indian raw material behind each one. The packaging should feel like receiving something considered — not a trial pack.

The pricing logic

At ₹699, hesitation disappears. But when the box arrives looking the way it does, there is a small moment of surprise — it seems worth far more. That gap is what makes people upgrade to the ₹4,500 Signature Bottle.

Channel split

60% via Nykaa Man and Myntra Premium — where male grooming buyers already go. 40% through our own D2C site for better margins, first-party data, and full CRM control for the loyalty loop.

Content voice

Three-minute documentary films on YouTube showing where VAJRA's sandalwood comes from, how Kannauj rose is distilled. On Instagram: the bottle, a hand, a quiet room. No trending audio. No filters. The restraint is the message.

RETAIN

Scent-Bar Ritual

The Scent-Bar

A dedicated corner in each flagship: buyers bring their bottle back for a refill at 20% below the cost of a new one. The bottle can be engraved with the Sanskrit name and the buyer's initials. It is not meant to be thrown away — and that permanence changes how someone relates to the brand.

How the loop forms

The refill visit is not just a transaction. It is a reason to return to the store, and every return is a chance to discover the next SKU or find a gift. That rhythm — visit, discover, deepen — is how fragrance brands build loyalty without discounts.

Subscription tier

Premium subscribers at ₹499/month get early access to limited editions and festival sets. Goal: 25% of core buyers on subscription within three years — in line with repeat-purchase data for urban professionals (Perplexity 2024).

Brand ambassador

One credible cultural figure — not Bollywood. A cricketer known for longevity, or a chef whose craft speaks for itself. Below that: 15–20 micro-influencers (10K–100K) in grooming, menswear and craft. Plus editorial coverage in GQ India and Man's World.

The first purchase is curiosity. The second is identity. The third is ritual — and ritual is what luxury is actually built on.

Disciplined Growth.

Visible Payback.
